The night of 15th-16th September has passed safely over, but at an expenditure of enxiety that few of the residents will ever forget. A fire broke out about ? p.m. in the suburbs in front of the were called out, and orders were quences of an unprepared attack; the speedy and welcome effect in putting a stop to the wholesale rioting that had been now going on for some considerable time. But the worst was still to come. From the threats publicly made and the fearfully excited state of the populace it was generally believed that an armed attack was premeditated on the foreign community at Shamien that night, and it was freely understood that midnight would not be allowed to pass without a determined and dastardly attempt being made to moisten the ground with the blood of the hated foreigners, their wives and children. Placards are said to have been posted. The foreign community, including every official in the place, turned out, and means were improvised for defence. Everyone was strongly armed. A solemn conclave was held and the question discussed with manly boldness, what steps should be taken in view of the threatened systematic massacre. The Consuls in Canton at the time took a leading part in the perfection of these arrangements and did much to preserve cool headedness and common sense in the deliberations of the people so dangerously situated. Unfortunately both the English and French Consuls were absent in Macao. The steamers in Harbour were communicated with, and they in turn made everything ready to assist in quelling any further disturbance that might arise nearer to their own door than that which had taken place in the earlier part of the evening. About one o'clock the Kiuking and the Ningpo, acting under instructions from the meeting got steam up and were ready all night to leave at a moment's notice, bringing the foreign community down to Hongkong. The European ladies and children had meantime been all removed to a place of safety, and signal was agreed upon for their being taken on board the steamer should things grow worse. The Kin Kiang and the Ningpo and one of the Viceroy's boats, the Chen-tu were off Shameen; the Sui Tsing was near the Dutch Folly. A a gunboat should be sent up to protect

THE CHINA REVIEW.

THE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on China and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but alightly tables and other intelligence as is conmodified in certain details.

A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Portuguese, are admissible. Endeavours are made to present a resumé in each number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given, when furnished, to previous Notes St. Peter's Semmen's Church, West Point. or Queries), as are also those quories which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in band. It is desirable to make the Queries proper as brief and as much to the point as possible.

Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :- " This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Hongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has been much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the neighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desir- Pencil-cases, &c .- John Noble, agent able : and contributions of much interest for Negretti & Zambra. may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Chinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, and Sportsman's Requisites of all descripamong whom a high degree of Chinese tions.-WM. In a paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, Su Tung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by its literary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Querles" are destined to find a place in its pages also. upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,from Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Salgon, and other places frequented by the Chinese, - consider themselves in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 8,000 and 4,000 copies.
